Autumn Bees.
Their hearts are filled with gladness
These bright, September days.
When the bees are clear and chilly,
And the hills are low and bare.

The bees are busy workers
Using the drier stores,
And round the dying trees,
The morning glory twines.

The autumn winds in whispering tones
Sing of the harvest, and the bees
Lay low their strength even when the vines
In grass and mast are dead.

The autumn stream, in quiet tones
Flows on, and the sunbeams
Away over hills of shining stones
D're rough and rocky beds.

Give, give to me September,
When the hills are low and bare.

When the leaves are golden,
Through dreamy, sunny days.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous disease directly due to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. Hood's Sarape is the remedy for such a condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, eliminate or life.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, especially prepared from the best ingredients.

PROSPERITY IN THE SOUTH.

It is Brighter Than Any Other Section of The Country.

NO LIMIT TO ITS RESOURCES.

From all parts of the South comes excellent reports of material progress. The Southern corn crop is greater than ever before; the cotton crop is large and of fine quality. In Texas the latter is the largest that the South has raised. The prospect of the market is bright. While cotton is the chief crop, it will not do to overlook the fact that six cents a pound for cotton nowadays is a very different thing from what it was a few years ago. People generally have not yet learned to take into consideration the fact that the market price products of cotton are worth nearly ten cents a pound more, so that the farmer's six cents is really equivalent to nine cents.

The cotton crop is so large that the South will this year have a surplus, instead of being compelled to import corn for home consumption. The output for home manufacturing, lumber and her cotton mills in particular, is better than ever before in her history, and in every substantial and material element of business the general condition of the South is most encouraging and satisfactory.

The system of southern railroad interests the reorganization of the Richmond Terminal system and the merging of the thirty or forty railroads comprising it into the new Southern Railway Company is nothing short of revolutionary. As affecting Southern business affairs of all kinds, it is the most important event ever witnessed. It means the substitution in the pivotal industry and dependence of the country of order in the place of chance, and of stability and responsibility in the place of absolute irresponsibility. Never in the history of railroads was such hopeless chaos and inefficiency manifested as in the administration of the thousand and miles of railroads directly and indirectly involved in the Richmond Terminal system. Shippers could place no dependence upon the railroads. They had no guarantee that goods could be shipped to them which would be sent to them, and when they were sent, they would never arrive. And above all they had no redress. There was no such thing as recovery, however, when the courts had done their duty and ordered restitution. It was one vast system of inefficiency, mismanagement, and worse, and its effects upon all mercantile business were disastrous.

The new order of things is very different. The Southern Railway is the result of the practical obliteration of between thirty and forty corporations, the elimination of millions of fictitious valuations and unmeasurable burdens, and it is now a well-organized, well-managed, and vigorous railroad system founded upon modern and scientific economies and of the first efficiency. This has been accomplished by Mr. Samuel Spencer, in conformity with the general plan and purpose of the reorganization of the railroads of the South, the handiwork of Drexel, Morgan & Co.

Mr. Spencer, in addition to being one of the first railroad men in the country, was specially equipped for the problem in hand by his intimate knowledge of southern railroad properties, and of those of the Terminal system in particular. Besides, it is natural if anybody is especially qualified to do the work of an ailment of railroad money. When Mr. Spencer was elected President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, one of his earliest acts in office was to take $25,000,000 of the surplus of that great corporation by a simple stroke of his pen. It is a great gift of God that when we can attribute the fact that the Southern Railroad Company enters upon the conduct of its business, even after such conditions as have so long prevailed, in such a fair and honest and a very even manner.

Taken for all in all, the business prospects of the South are, at the present moment, brighter than those of any other part of the country. It depends upon the people of the South themselves to make the most of the opportunities. What they need is unintermittent industry and a sound respect for law. If they have the good sense to abjure populism and socialism, and anarchism, and see to it that the rights of property are observed in behalf of great and small, rich and poor, they can be as prosperous as they possibly can. They have available their resources, and with industry and honesty going hand in hand, there should be no limit to their development. Let them study the lesson that Texas has learned at such grievous expense and painful retardation. Her Beagans and her Loges, who were at last compelled to sell out, cost the country millions of dollars, and have put back her natural and reasonable development by at least as much as fifteen years.

It is your duty as a southern teacher to take your Catharine Hills. They will cleanse the stomach, restore healthy action to the digestive organs, remove effects of the presence of which depresses the nerves and brain, and thus give speedy relief.

A Hero of Other Days.

We are of a forgetful generation. We cannot keep in memory the name of one in a hundred, or even one in a thousand, of the marked characters of our age.

The two foregoing sentences have been written within view of a Texas paper, which I have no time to name, but it is the editor of the saddle which, after fifty years, belongs to the once famous Warrenton, Santa Anna, and which was captured by the young American general, after he had unhorsed him in battle.

As we read about the lion-headed saddle in the Texas paper, we had the same in our hands. Had not the editor of that paper, in all his life, seen Santa Anna, that there Mexican revolutionist, dictator, generalissimo, castor-sterner, and exile of whose hoity-toity career our grandfathers used to tell stories in the years of the war for the liberation of Texas? He had been a generalissimo, as about the fees of arms against the Emperor Maximilian, and afterward against the Spanish invaders, and subsequently against Bustamante and Guerrero, and next against Col. David Crockett, and last Col. Bowie (of the knife) and Col. Travis. He had been a generalissimo, and he was, I suppose, the author of the second Mexican empire? How many can tell even about his wooden leg, not to speak of his ups and downs?

Santa Anna was one of the extraordinary men of the century, about whom Americans had occasion to know a good deal. He was a generalissimo, and he was, I suppose, the author of the second Mexican empire? How many can tell even about his wooden leg, not to speak of his ups and downs?

The Mexican war was the most remarkable war in which our country has been involved. What we especially desire to say here upon this occasion, is, that American boys should study history.—New York Sun.

Monthly Crop Report.

Since my report of July 1st there have been fine rains in the larger portions of the State, and the crops are generally favorable to the others. Report from counties state, "not enough rain to do much good." There is a much better feeling among the farmers. Both the corn and the tobacco crops have been very much benefited. The August report of the State Department of Agriculture shows a decline in corn of nearly 30 points from July 1st to August 1st. In some localities the crop was injured beyond recovery, while in others, timely rains have improved the crops very much, and the indications now are that the crop will be much better than last year. The corn crop made with a small quantity of rain. The farmer has done his whole duty, the crop was never better worked, and those that were fortunate enough to get a fair crop, as many farmers have already commenced to feed their hogs on wheat, much of the corn crop will be saved in this way. The U. S. Agricultural Department has recognized the importance of feeding wheat to live stock, and has recommended the same to the public. The farmer in advancing the feeding of wheat to animals and placing none but first-class wheat on the market. It shows that wheat and corn are the same price per bushel, it is preferable to sell corn and feed wheat. There are a good many farmers still using wheat as a feed, and the public is requested to let them know what is best. The farmer who has a clean, nice article for sale. This certainly would be a good fall to sow for winter pasture, as there is a short crop of corn and hay. For pasture, rye should be sown early and much earlier than wheat. It is a good idea to have early fall, and run your disk harrow over it—will all that is necessary; it will afford good winter pasture and will be a good fertilizer to turn under in the spring. I have been in fifteen or twenty counties since the rains commenced, and in most of these counties there will be a good crop of wheat, and in some a very good crop. Some correspondents report, "never had better crops of corn or tobacco." I have reports to this office that the corn sent out from this office took the premiums at the fair when it was shown. Condition, 73%; average unpared with last year.

This certainly would be a good fall to sow for winter pasture, as there is a short crop of corn and hay. For pasture, rye should be sown early and much earlier than wheat. It is a good idea to have early fall, and run your disk harrow over it—will all that is necessary; it will afford good winter pasture and will be a good fertilizer to turn under in the spring. I have been in fifteen or twenty counties since the rains commenced, and in most of these counties there will be a good crop of wheat, and in some a very good crop. Some correspondents report, "never had better crops of corn or tobacco." I have reports to this office that the corn sent out from this office took the premiums at the fair when it was shown. Condition, 73%; average unpared with last year.

Yesterdays price of the wheat, regarding it a more profitable crop because of the greater yield per acre, and being a better grain for horses than wheat. There is also a disposition to sow more rye this year. I have had reports for large "white rye" seed, and have had some inquiries about it. I would like to hear from any one who has a clean, nice article for sale.
